

Blizz-ABS 2.8 released

Written by Administrator

Thursday, 22 July 2010 10:17 - Last Updated Thursday, 22 July 2010 15:45

Blizz-ABS 2.8 has been released! Winkio finished the configuration application and now it is possible to configure combos using the application. Also, the manual has been changed and improved featuring a new organization of chapter and a much more intuitive navigation pane that will allow you to find all the information you need with just a few clicks.

Blizz-ABS now officially implements all features provided by XAS. Winkio may have just started development on Blizz-ABS recently, but he's already done a lot of work. His future plans involve changes of the AI system which will probably prove difficulty due to the AI being the center core of Blizz-ABS that is connected with all other subsystems. Download the newest version from here

.